When making a recommendation on a type of application that would be subject to a final decision by the planning commission but for the application of this section, it is intended that the scope of the planning commission's review shall be the same as if the commission were making the final decision. All recommendations to approve or deny an application shall include a statement of any findings required for the approval or denial of the application.

2.74.200 Limits of chapter.

Nothing in this chapter shall be deemed or construed to:

On the other hand, if the appeal is from a decision, determination or order of a city board, commission, officer or employee not requiring a public hearing, or from a decision, determination or order made or issued after a public hearing which was not required by law to be conducted in any particular manner, then the mayor, or the city council by a majority vote of the council, shall establish a procedure for conducting the hearing which, at a minimum, provides the person commencing the appeal, and the applicant for the lease, license, permit or other entitlement which is the subject of the appeal or the recipient of the order which is the subject of the appeal if other than the person who commenced the appeal, a fair opportunity to be heard and present evidence bearing on the particular matter which is the subject of the appeal.

In the alternative, the council may approve the lease, license, permit or other entitlement in the manner provided herein, but remand the matter back to the city board, commission, officer or employee having made the initial decision on the matter for the purpose of making a determination on the terms and conditions of the lease, license, permit or other entitlement.

2. If the appeal was from a decision or determination of a city board, commission, officer or employee to approve a lease, license, permit or other entitlement, or from an order of a city officer or employee directing performance of some act, the city council may deny such lease, license, permit or other entitlement or cancel such order, and adopt such findings of fact as may be required by law to support such action.
